

Atempo & Do IT Now Partner to Offer Painkiller Solutions for HPC Users

This collaboration will empower High-Performance Computing (HPC) users to better manage and secure their mission critical data more effectively.

Massy, France (May 22, 2023) - Atempo, a leading European software manufacturer of data protection and data management solutions, and Do IT Now, a European leader in HPC services, announce today their partnership to deliver enhanced data management services to support HPC users.

To effectively solve their data services challenges, Do IT Now is integrating Atempo's Miria, a comprehensive all-in-one data management platform for very large unstructured data, in its portfolio.

European Alliance for best-in-class HPC services

By integrating Atempo's Miria into their solution product portfolio, Do IT Now provides HPC users with a full suite of data management capabilities from analytics to backup, archiving, migration and beyond.

With key capabilities such as Air Gap and DR orchestration to control the risk of ransomware and analytics delivering actionable insights translated into data movement workflows to implement best-in-class data flow strategies, Atempo's Miria Data Management platform is the cornerstone for HPC community to achieve their goal and support their growth.

This collaboration is aiming to bring benefits to HPC users in a wide range of industries, such as research, financial services, pharmaceutical, life science and many others. By combining Atempo's proven solutions with Do IT Now's expertise in HPC, the partnership provides more effective management and protection of mission critical data.

Whenever you are faced with challenges towards Data Mobility/Migration/Archive/Backup/Analytics on heterogenous storages with demanding performance requirements, Do IT Now through all-in-one Miria data management platform will provide you with a high-end solution solving your pain on-premises, in full cloud or hybrid environment regardless of the disk/object/tape/optical source and target involved.

"We are excited to partner with Do IT Now to extend our data management and data protection solutions to HPC users across Italy, Spain, France, and Germany," said Pietro Pugliese, Atempo's Country Manager, Italy. "Do IT Now's recognized expertise in the HPC domain, together with Atempo's top-tier technology, will allow us to provide the most effective solutions and support for our shared clients."

Cosma Belli, EMEA Business Development Manager, added: "We are proud to collaborate with Atempo, a company that mirrors our dedication to delivering high-quality solutions and services to our customers. With this partnership, we can offer HPC users a robust suite of data management and data protection capabilities that will help them better manage and secure their data."

About Atempo

Atempo is a leading independent European-based software vendor with an established global presence providing solutions to protect, store, move and recover all mission-critical data sets for thousands of companies worldwide. With over 30 years' experience in data protection and data management, Atempo offers a complete range of proven solutions for physical and virtual servers' backup, workstations, and migration between different storages of very large data volumes. To continuously improve the satisfaction of its customers and partners, the group is committed to a process of continuous improvement of its solutions and services and has thus obtained the ISO 9001 certification for its Quality Management System. Recently, Atempo is listed as a Top Manufacturer in the Worldwide Scale-Out NAS Market in 2022.

About Do IT Now

Founded in 2020 Do IT Now is an alliance of Italy-based Do IT Systems, Spain-based HPCNow! and France-based UCit. With more than 30 years of experience providing HPC solutions in the fields of science and engineering, the alliance has established itself as a leader in HPC services in Europe. Its group members generate about 10 million euro in annual revenue and consist of more than 100 HPC-focused professionals. Do IT Now, operates out of offices in Montpellier (France), Munich (Germany), Barcelona (Spain) and Turin (Italy).

For more information, please visit www.atempo.com and www.doitnow.com.